MAY GO TO PRISON.

Such the Outlook in the Meighan Emibezzlement Case.

It looks very much as though Charles Meighan, the former postmaster of Ogden, would be obliged to spend some time in prison, although the stay of execution has still more than a month to run. He has not yet determined whether he will take an appeal from the verdict which found him technically guilty, or not. The matter will be left to the decision of his attorneys. Judge Marshall in passing sentence, kindly told the defendant that he did not believe him to be a criminal at heart, and this seems to be the opinion of his many friends as well, and tends to mitigate the disgrace of conviction. which would remove somewhat the stigma attached to conviction and Should an appeal be taken it ould prolong matters and in the end the result might be the same. In the meantime Meighan is reconciled to his sition and will abide by the decision his attorneys and sorve out his sen-of they say so. Meighan's friends, who are many, ive always believed and still believ innocent of any intentional wrong d that the shortages occurred from treless system of bookkeeping rather an from any premeditated plan to mbezzle. His conduct, too, after the liscovery was very much in his favor and did not cause him to appear like a gullty man. His friends advised him to make up the shortage, which he night have done, and which, in the light of subsequent events, would have been best, but he thought that by doing so it might be looked upon as evidence of guilt. There was a shortage and the investigation did not clear it up, and as post master he was responsible for the mon ey and although it was not proven by the evidence that he took the money o aused it to be taken, it was gone and was the only person who could be

TELEPHONIC CONSTRUCTION President Wallace of Bell Company Says It is Advancing.

While President George Y. Wallace of the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company was in Roston recently, he was agreeably surprised to find the remarkable advances made in telephonic construction all through the east. It is rush, rush, rush everywhere with telephone wires, and the business is yet in its infancy. Mr. Wallace noted the genral adoption of the Pupin-coll, a de bia college for strengthening the sound waves along the wire, so that each coil re-establishes the current with almost its initial energy. Thus it is possible to hear at Omaha a whisper uttered at the New York end of the wire. Experts told Mr. Wallace in Boston that there was no doubt but the coil would adapted to ocean cables, and the coil box attachments would not only operate to perfect the transmission ound, but act as anchors to steady he cable line. At present a coil le used for every mile or so of telephone wire but the perfection of the invention will allow for from three to five-mile intervals. Mr. Wallace proposes to ntroduce the Pupin coil in the Rocky Mountain system where strengthenin; of the current is necessary, and be-tween this city and Portland, for in-

Mr. Wallace reports that the birth of another telephone company in this city concerns very little the Boston offices of the Bell company. He says the cockerning reports of He and Hell Company. orthcoming reports of the eastern Bell companies will show an increase of ousiness of 33% per cent, and that the coming 12 months will develop an enormous traffice. He gives the en-couraging information that a line is to built from this city to Deep Creek nce, and construction is to begin as oon as poles can be contracted for. As to statements made in certain quarters that the company is making too high charges, Mr. Wallace says the average receipts per station of his company are lower than those of any other company that he knows of.

[Special to the "News."] Ogien, Jan. 2.-The police have in custody a young man named P. P. Means, who was arrested by Detective Pender, and it is said a charge of embezziement will be preferred against him. Means came to Ogden a short time ago and was employed to drive a delivery wagon for the Ogden Steam Laundry. He was soon found to be short in his accounts with the company, and was discharged by Proprietor O. A. Parmley, who agreed to refrain from prosecuting the case if the man would refund the money take which the latter agreed to do. He th went to work on the Southern Pac The sentence of one year was the light-est that could have been imposed and it is enven believed if Meighan went to the penitentiary he would be pardoned the penitentiary he would be pardoned before the expiration of his term, before the expiration of his term, Chase, who was residing in Evanston, Wyo,, and induced her and her mother to ship their household goods to Ogden, and forward the money His attorneys have not yet decided with which to pay the freight to him, what to do in the matter and it is stated, have not yet discussed it with it for the purpose intended by the la-dies, he appropriated it to his own use The matter was reported to the pa guilt, and this morning signed ove his pay check amounting to $31.75 to th his pay check amounting to $31.75 to the young lady. It is said by the detective that the young man in custody has a gold ring which he purloined from the room of a young byly in this city. He also admitted to L'acetive Pender that he is wanted in Wyoming on the charge of forgery. The Ogden Steam Laundry got out an attachment against Means the member for the surges of Means this morning for the purpose of attaching his earnings, but its action was too late as the young, man, as stat-ed above, had turned his pay over to the young woman whom he had swin-

ANTISEPTIC SOAP AND HOW TO USE IT.

To the Editor:

Salt Lake City, Jan. 2, 1903.-Recenta daily paper of this city had a report of an interview with the acting health commissioner in regard to "An tiseptic soap for use in public places." The article, although good, was far from complete. However, it has done its work by causing investigation and possible application. So far as soap is concerned it should always be antiseptic as suggested, but that is only a beginning, as the article mentions hotels only, when, as a mat-ter of fact, the place of all places where skin diseases are contracted is the "barber shop." Every man when being shaved runs the risk of being rulned for life unless necessary preautions are taken in regard to clean-

The object of this article is to explain to barbers how to be surgically clean and thereby protect the public as well as themselves. The care and precauexpense and will increase trade and re-ceipts. The most dreaded of skin and blood diseases are almost always caused by a sharp razor cutting away the outside skin and leaving thereon the germs from said razor or brush, cup, towel or the hands of the barber. The remedy is simple—"Be clean." How? Follow me and the method will be plain, easy

First Hands absolutely clean by us-ng one tablet of corrosive sublimate to quart of warm water and mild antiseptic soap several times daily, and al ways after shaving a diseased face These tablets of mercury may be ob tained from any druggist for about 25 cents per one hundred.]
Second—Razor to be dipped, before second—Razor to be dipped, before and after using, in a reasonably strong solution of Formalin, which may be obtained for about 70 cents a pint and will last for several months. The brush will fast for several months. The brush must be washed several times a day in the same solution and then re-washed in plain warm water that has been boiled. The cup and soap must be washed in the Formalin solution each and every time used. and every time used.

Third-New the most important of all -"the towel." A stirilizer should be procured (the cost about 75 cents, in the shape of a granite asparagus boiler) The towels are folded and placed in this for dry stirilization, which is thoroughly effective. Instead of the towel be-ing taken from a musty drawer it must each and every time be taken from the sterilizer with hands clean as efore stated. Each piece of linen muster returned to laundry after having een used on one person only, aundry can turn out surgically clear napkins or towels and the result is that Il should be re-sterilized before using A culture from a supposed clean article from a laundry will show germs of dis-ease that would cause serious conse-quences if coming in contact with a raw surface such as a freshly shaved face. Fourth-After shaving, the face mus e left thoroughly clean by using dilued alcohol, witchhazel or some other none should be used except plain ster-ilized chalk. Colored and perfumed powders are not clean. The coming legislature will enact some law looking to this end, but such a law is not necessary provided ordin-
